To Whom It May Concern:

New Beginnings is a comprehensive Alcohol and Drug Rehabilitation and Sober Living facility for women seeking recovery in a safe, therapeutic environment that provides the structure, accountability, and support necessary to transition from active addiction to a life of sustained recovery. We currently serve 51 women at our Dublin campus and work closely with the Georgia Department of Community Supervision (DCS), felony and misdemeanor probation officers, accountability courts, DFCS, attorneys, and the courts by providing monthly progress reports and other documentation as requested. To promote accountability and support recovery goals, residents are also subject to regular random urinary drug screenings throughout their participation in the program.

I am proud to say that we are THOR and GARR approved and are trusted by judges, probation officers, attorneys, treatment providers, and other legal institutions throughout Georgia to assist women in becoming productive, law-abiding members of society while developing the tools necessary for long-term sobriety. It is crucial for our clients to complete our one-year program, although many choose to remain beyond the initial twelve-month commitment to continue strengthening their recovery foundation.

Our program combines evidence-based and faith-based recovery services, including the MATRIX Model, Moral Reconciliation Therapy (MRT), Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), Narcotics Anonymous (NA), and Celebrate Recovery (CR). Through structured programming, peer support, and life-skills development, residents learn personal accountability, healthy decision-making, relapse prevention, and the tools necessary for long-term recovery.

Residents are also encouraged to develop financial responsibility and independence through employment, budgeting, and paying their own program fees. Transportation is provided to work, recovery meetings, church services, medical appointments, counseling sessions, and any classes required by DFCS, probation, or the courts.

Successful completion of the New Beginnings program provides residents with a strong foundation for maintaining a drug-free, productive, and self-sufficient life.

We hope you find this information helpful and that New Beginnings may be of service when you are seeking a quality recovery facility for women. We are committed to making the referral and admission process smooth and efficient and will provide timely follow-up information, progress reports, and documentation as needed.
